

#1 -- Unit 1, Job Losses and Gains

This is a quick adaptation and will give you a starting point for understanding the employment rates of various industry sectors in your region.

Instructions:

1. Read the Total Jobs graph for your region. Consider which sectors are big employers in your region and begin to think about careers within that sector that come to mind and any personal or professional connections you have in those sectors.
2. Replace the New York City graph for this activity with the graph for your region, attached.
3. Read the discussion questions. Add any questions that arise from information provided in the graph.
